Project 562: Changing the Way We See Native America

Project 562 provides remarkable insights into contemporary Native American life, driving the conversation forward to encourage US citizens to evolve beyond the appropriation and neglect of indigenous images and traditions through a new model of awareness, with honest photographic representation and direct narratives of America's first people. By exposing the astonishing variety of the Indian presence and reality, we will build cultural bridges, abandon stereotypes, and renew and inspire our national legacy.
